Reading the Song of Songs

For best results, read the Song of Songs first! Even better, read it more than once and in more than one translation.

During each discussion session, be sure to have a Bible in front of you. There will be frequent references to passages throughout the Bible, some of which you will want to look up. While access to a variety of translations will be helpful, Dr. Wolfe primarily uses the text of the New Revised Standard Version.

NOTE: Other helpful reference books to have handy include Bible dictionaries, Bible commentaries, and annotated Bibles (rather than "devotional" Bibles).
